Customer Journey Map

Map out the customer's experience stage-by-stage, capturing their actions, touchpoints, thoughts, and feelings, along with process ownership and improvement opportunities at each stage.

Phase of Journey	Checking Eligibility & Applying	Application Screening & Risk Assessment	Approval Decision & Onboarding
Actions What does the customer do?	- Visits the bank's website or app to check credit card eligibility - Enters personal, income, and employment details - Submits the credit card application	- Credit analyst reviews the submitted application - ML model evaluates financial and demographic inputs - Compliance officer screens high-risk / past-due applicants	- Receives an instant approval or rejection prediction - Reviews terms and conditions if approved - Activates the new credit card
Touchpoint What part of the service do they interact with?	- Web/mobile self-service application portal - Online eligibility check form - Application submission confirmation email/SMS	- Internal Flask web application dashboard - ML prediction engine (Logistic Regression, Random Forest, XGBoost, Decision Tree) - Feature engineering / risk classification pipeline	- IBM Watson ML cloud prediction API - Approval/rejection notification (email, SMS, app) - Card activation portal
Customer Thought What is the customer thinking?	- Will my income and credit history qualify me? - I hope this doesn't take too long. - I want to compare this with other banks first.	- I hope my application is being reviewed fairly. - Why is this taking so long? - I wonder what factors are being considered.	- Finally, I know where I stand. - What are my credit limit and terms? - How do I activate and start using my card?
Customer Feeling What is the customer feeling?	- Curious and hopeful - Slightly anxious about qualifying - Motivated to get quick clarity	- Impatient while waiting - Uncertain about the outcome - Trusting the process to be objective	- Relieved (or disappointed, depending on outcome) - Excited to start using the new card, if approved - Reassured by clear next steps
